

WARREN COMMUNICATIONS NEWS Telecom & Media Intelligence www.warren-news.com

THE PUBLIC BROADCASTING REPORT

The Authoritative News Service for Public Broadcasting and Allied Fields

SEPTEMBER 9, 2011

VOL. 33, NO. 18

PBS Hawaii said it was awarded a $5 million grant from the Clarence T.C. Ching Foundation to help the network build a new facility in Honolulu. There's an urgent need for a new location because the network "is losing its lease at the University of Hawaii at Manoa," PBS Hawaii said. It purchased a new site in 2009, the network said. It will expand an existing one-story building and relocate operations in 2014.
