

West Hawaii Today

Kealakehe team selected best anchors

September 13, 2011 - 6:08pm

SPECIAL TO WEST HAWAII TODAY

Five public high schools participating in PBS Hawaii's statewide student news network have received awards for outstanding work produced during season one of "HIKI NO." About 250 students, teachers and supporters attended the Saturday event that concluded a day-long training conference to prepare participants for "HIKI NO's" fall season.

Best anchor team honors went to Kealakehe High School for hosting episode 12. The original program aired on May 23.

Also winning honors were: Waianae High, Nino J. Martin Excellence in Production Award; Moanalua High, best overall story; best newswriting, H.P. Baldwin High; best franchise (short) report, McKinley High.

"HIKI NO" episodes are available for viewing online at pbshawaii.org

To date, 63 public, private and charter schools are participating in season two of HIKI NO, which makes its primetime debut at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13.