

PBS Hawai'i Volunteer, In-Studio Guests, Visitors and Contractors Protocol Effective July 8, 2021

After more than a year hiatus due to COVID-19 related restrictions and protocols, PBS Hawai'i will welcome back volunteers, in-studio guests, visitors and contractors beginning July 8, 2021.

Our top priority is the safety, health and wellness of all. For that reason, we will implement safety measures and an incremental approach to bringing back dedicated volunteers, in-studio guests, visitors and contractors.

Required safety procedures include the mandatory use of masks for all, except for in-studio guests during live productions, a limit of 10 volunteers per day, daily wellness checks including temperature checks and social distancing practices. At this time, we are not allowing minors to volunteer in-person.

While Federal law allows businesses to ask visitors for proof of vaccination, PBS Hawai'i will not require vaccinations to enter our facility.

Please review the following additions to our volunteer, in-studio guests, visitors and contractor protocol:
