Removed by Force:
The Eviction of Hawai'i's
Japanese Americans During World War II

Removed by Force:
The Eviction of Hawai'i's Japanese
Americans During World War II
Thursday, September 28 at 8:30 pm

The incarceration of more than 125,000 Americans of Japanese ancestry during World War II is well documented. Almost unknown is the story of 1,500 AJAs in Hawai'i who were forcibly evicted from their homes by the U.S. Government following Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor.

A new, locally-made film looks to change that.

"My first reaction was shock, disbelief and anger that 1,500 Japanese Americans in Hawai'i were evicted from their homes with nowhere to go by our government," says the film's writer, director and co-executive producer Ryan Kawamoto.

"And that initially they did not qualify for redress with the Civil Liberties Act of 1988. However, their stories also gave me hope," he says.

Kawamoto teamed with attorney and co-executive producer William "Bill" Kaneko and the Japanese American Citizens League Honolulu Chapter to produce Removed by Force: The Eviction of Hawai'i's Japanese Americans During World War II.

Some of the evicted individuals and families fled to hills. Others lived in the storage areas belonging to relatives or friends. One Maui family lived in a chicken coop. They were removed under the pretext of national security but none of the families evicted were ever found guilty of espionage or sabotage.

The film documents the stories of those who endured the injustice.

"It has been 80 years since these events have occurred," says Kawamoto. "The longer we wait, the fewer survivors will be around to tell their stories and finally receive the closure they deserve."

The film also follows the successful efforts of lawyers and volunteers who fought for restitution from the government.

Kawamoto says, "It is my hope that the younger generations in particular will be inspired by those who fought for equality and will help reshape our future into one that is fair and inclusive of all."

Home is Here

Wednesday, September 27 at 7:30 pm

In this month's episode of Home is Here, we're featuring two immigrant stories that started in the Philippines.

The Butuyan family moved to the island of O'ahu from the Philippines in 1969. Five years later, Theo and Elena Butuyan opened Elena's Restaurant in Waipahu, Central O'ahu. The restaurant, along with accompanying food trucks, are now being run by the next generation. Daughter Mellissa Cedillo says while some aspects of the business have evolved, the menu is still comprised of her mom's recipes.

"It's something that we see with our customers, our loyal customers. They come back, you know decades; first generation, second, third, fourth. We see their grandchildren coming, their great grandchildren coming because it's the same food. The same homestyle cooking that they remember their parents or their grandparents fed them when they came to Elena's," says Cedillo.

As for the food, many of the dishes are Elena's originals like the pork adobo fried rice omelet created by Elena and the "sari-sari" which was created by Theo.

Our second story is on Honolulu-based artist Bonhui Uy. Born and raised in the Philippines, he came to America in 1965 after graduating as an architectural engineer from Taiwan National Cheng Kung University. He worked from the bottom up at architecture firms in New York City. "The job captain the first day came in with a blueprint all red-marked and said, 'Okay Bon, here, take this, pull those original out and correct this red mark.' So that's my first job. I didn't even have a chance to draw," says Uy.

As his career in architecture continued to climb, Uy began exploring his creative side with on-the-spot drawings and paintings. His artwork expanded to pieces made mostly with recycled materials such as newspapers, cardboard boxes, bottles and sheet-metals. With solo exhibitions in Taiwan, the Philippines and Hawai'i, the self-taught artist has also published several books of his work as well as a children's book.

Travel to the far corners of the world and discover the extraordinary ways animals are adapting to our rapidly changing planet. Witness nature’s remarkable resilience as our perception of evolution and its potential is being transformed.

AMERICAN MASTERS Bella! This Woman’s Place is in the House

Friday, September 8, 8:00 pm

Follow the meteoric rise of firebrand politician and activist Bella Abzug. See how her commitment to women’s rights and progressive causes upended the status quo in Washington, DC.

Objects and Memory

Saturday, September 9, 8:00 pm

This film is about the otherwise ordinary things that mean the most to us because of their associations with people and experiences. It examines items recovered or offered in response to 9/11, the Oklahoma City bombing, and the Vietnam War, along with stories of people who find them important.

PATI'S MEXICAN TABLE
Season 12
Saturdays at 4:00 pm
beginning September 16

Chef Pati Jinich embarks upon an exciting and entertaining journey, inviting viewers to take a deep dive into Yucatán. She explores salt harvesting, the colonial food of the haciendas, the history behind ancient ruins and the foods that have been passed down by the Maya.

POV
Bulls and Saints
Monday, September 18, 9:00 pm

After 20 years of living in the U.S., an undocumented family decides to return home. Set between the backdrop of the rodeo rings of North Carolina and the Mexican hometown they long for, the film is a story of reverse migration and redemption.

BECOMING FRIDA KAHLO
Tuesdays, September 19-
October 3, 9:00 pm

This three-part series strips away the myths to reveal the real Frida Kahlo – a passionate and brilliant artist living through extraordinary times. It explores the major events of her life, both personal and political, from her lifelong health problems to her complicated relationship with artist Diego Rivera.

Towering Task: The Story of the Peace Corps
Saturday, September 23, 8:00 pm

This documentary tells the story of the Peace Corps, a unique U.S. government agency born out of the Cold War and the heady days of the Kennedy administration. To this day, Peace Corps volunteers help define how America engages with the rest of the world.

AMERICAN MASTERS
A Song for Cesar
Friday, September 29, 9:00 pm

Trace the life and legacy of labor activist Cesar Chavez. Through interviews with Maya Angelou, Joan Baez, Carlos Santana and more, see how music and the arts were instrumental to the success of the social movement Chavez helped found, which mobilized thousands of farmworkers across the U.S.

Behind the Strings
Saturday, September 30, 8:00 pm

When Mao Tse Tung's Cultural Revolution ended, a group of young Chinese musicians moved to the West and began a lifetime adventure as the Shanghai Quartet, studying with great masters, attending Juilliard and performing at Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center and The Kennedy Center.

Save the Date!

Saturday, October 21

As a thank you to the parents and keiki who support kids programming in Hawai'i, we are inviting you to a special members only "not-so-spooky" Halloween Party! Just for our littlest supporters and their families, we have family friendly games and activities and a few surprises. Just follow the sounds of DJ Kutmaster to the station in Kalihi.

To save your spot and join the fun, visit us online at pbshawaii.org or scan the QR below to become a keiki club member.

SEPTEMBER IS THE MONTH TO GIVE ALOHA!

This year, PBS Hawai'i is excited to participate in Give Aloha, Foodland's Annual Community Matching Gifts program! This program runs during the month of September and it's easy to participate. Simply make a donation to our organization at Foodland this month, and Foodland will match a portion of your gift.

Here's how it works:

- Go to any Foodland or Sack N Save store
- Make a donation of any amount up to $249 at checkout
- Give the cashier our organization code #77428 (PBS Hawai'i)
- Present your Maika'i card to the cashier or enter your phone number at the pinpad when making your transaction
- Review your receipt to confirm the donation amount and the name of our organization is correct

We'll receive all donations to PBS Hawai'i plus an extra matching gift in October. How great is that?

You can also donate 250 Maika'i points, equivalent to a $5 donation, to help increase the matching gift for all participating organizations. Mahalo for your support to help Give Aloha to PBS Hawai'i in September.

Every spring, thousands of cosplayers, artists, "otaku's", weebies, and self-proclaimed nerds descend upon the Hawai'i Convention Center in Waikiki for Kawaii Kon. The event comprises three days of festivities celebrating anime (cartoons), manga (comics) and all things Japanese via video games, costume contests and even a formal ball. Immerse yourself in this unique event on the next Home is Here.
